

On June 7, 2013, Jerome A. Cohen, a professor of law at New York University School of Law, visited Ministry of Justice and exchanged views on a wide range of human rights issues and the death penalty. There were a total of 6 people participated in this event.

